Statement of Compliance

The Responsible Individual must prepare the statement of compliance.

CIW have published guidance on completing the quality of care review which provides advice on what could be contained within the statement of compliance.

Set out your statement of compliance in respect to the four well-being areas below.

The extent to which people feel their voices are heard, they have choice about their care and support, and opportunities are made available to them.	 This home promotes independence for its service users in the f ollowing ways. Help service users to take responsibility for their own social life and activities. Facilitate the development of relationships between service u sers where appropriate and encourage service users to broade n their social contacts. Encourage responsible risk taking when it can enhance experience, rather than avoiding risks at all costs. Involve service users fully in risk assessments. Allow service users if they wish to help with domestic work an d share in tasks such as greeting and taking visitors around the home. Encourage service users to come and go from the premises without unnecessary checks or limitations. Make it possible for service users to take increased responsibility for their own healthcare and medication. Promote service users in the administration of the care service and the review of policies and procedures where appropriate. Seek and use service users' views about services in quality a surrance programmes.
The extent to which people are happy and supported to maintain their ongoing health, development and overall wellbeing. For children, this will also include intellectual, social and behavioural development.	 In addition to regular monitoring, the service will carry out monthly checks wherever practical of the plan with the person who uses the services and key others, and no less than three monthly formal reviews with all involved to meet the requirements of Regulation 16 of the Regulated Services (Service Providers and Responsible Individuals) (Wales) Regulations 2017. Reviews involve the person who uses the services, their relevant others, a care manager, key worker or care co-ordinator, and where involved, other professionals, where the progress of the plan will be discussed. Reviews will, among other matters, critically consider the appropriateness of the original plans, the feasibility of the care methods being used, the outcomes of any risks taken, respective roles and responsibilities, and timescales. Reviews will consider any new information which is available and any significant changes in the person's needs, strengths, a bilities and aspirations. Care will be taken to ensure that the person who uses the services is in full agreement with any modifications or additions made to the plan. Reviewing the care and support plan is a continuing process of counting achievements, setting new goals and adjusting the care. After each review, the other stakeholders involved in the care will be briefed on changes which require their action or att ention.

The extent to which people feel safe and protected from abuse and neglect.	There are written policies and procedures on keeping people s afe: to make sure that they are kept free from abuse; to make s ure that staff always use safe working practices eg when movin g and transferring; giving out medication; using equipment and maintain a safe living environment, eg by being compliant with a II health and safety, including fire safety and infection prevention requirements. Information for service users describes fully how we keep them safe and what they should do if they ever feel unsafe or are being harmed. It is always discussed with them (and their relatives) on admission and at their reviews. We thus keep a watching bri ef on the safety of every service user. They will confirm that the ir safety is our paramount concern. All staff have safeguarding training from induction onwards. Th eir training is reviewed annually to make sure that it is up to dat e. Every staff member knows what to do in the event of a servic e user being harmed or is at risk of harm. Our staffing records show that we recruit staff in line with our ai m of keeping service users' needs we make sure that our s taff engage with each person with whom they are working and li sten carefully to what they are saying or trying to communicate, including any frustrations and anxieties, concerns and complain ts. We have a clear complaints procedure, which service users and their relatives know how to use if they wish to make a comp laint about our service. We have regular meetings with service users and with their relat ives and legal representatives to get their views on our care and d to address any concerns that they might have.
The extent to which people live in accommodation that best supports their wellbeing and achievement of their personal outcomes.	To be offered private, single accommodation furnished, decora ed and equipped to a high standard which they may use and e njoy as and when they wish.
	To be allowed to bring their own items of furniture, if they so de sire, to add their own touches to their rooms.
	To have locked cabinets for the security of valuables with a key which they themselves may keep if they wish to.
	To have access to all communal areas of the home and its grounds with the provision of adequate access routes and, in the case of residents with special needs, by the use of such aids and modifications as are necessary to meet those needs (eg by the use of ramps, widened doors, lifts and grab rails, etc).
	To have access to a call system with an accessible alarm facilit y in every room, even in bathrooms and toilets.
	To have adequate central heating, comfortable lighting and nat ural ventilation both in their rooms and in communal areas.
	To have wash-hand basins and en-suite facilities in their rooms
	To have any complaint of any fault or defect in the premises list ened to, registered in the maintenance log and acted upon as a priority.
	To be informed about the fire safety procedures, fire escapes a nd evacuation procedures in the event of fire or similar catastro phe and to take part in regular fire safety exercises in line with t he home's fire safety policies.
