Summary

People living in Woodland Lodge receive a good standard of care and support. People appear happy with the service they receive and have positive relationships with the care staff who provide their care. Care staff have a clear understanding of people's needs and provide care with warmth, dignity and respect. Care documentation is in place, with evidence that external support is accessed when required. People are encouraged to eat their meals in the dining room, but they do have choice about what they eat and where they prefer to eat. There are varied and numerous opportunities available for people to take part in activities. The home's equipment and facilities are clean and appropriately maintained. Policies and procedures are in place to support good practice. Recruitment checks are carried out and care staff complete an induction period on commencing employment, access training and receive regular supervision. The responsible individual (RI) has good oversight of the service and has a good working relationship with the manager. Quality monitoring audits are completed to keep service delivery under review.

Well-being

People are treated with dignity and respect at Woodland Lodge. People are comfortable in their environment and are supported to meet their needs. People's relatives consistently praised the quality of care and support at the service. The home has good relationships and lines of communication with relatives, who tell us staff keep them informed and updated. Relatives said they feel very welcome to visit when they wish and are encouraged into the home to attend organised events such as the pantomime at Christmas and barbeques and garden parties during the warmer months.

People are supported to be as healthy as they can be by getting the right care at the right time. The home liaises with health professionals to refer any concerns and follows appropriate guidance given. We saw evidence of correspondence with professionals, with personal plans updated to reflect any changes needed. Personal plans are detailed and staff told us that they provide the information and guidance needed for them to carry out care effectively. Care plan reviews take place regularly, with people, relatives and representatives invited to contribute. Meals appear appetising and consider what people like and enjoy. Specific dietary needs are understood and catered for. The home has a sufficient supply of personal protective equipment (PPE). We saw the management of medication is safe and in line with the medication policy.

People live in an environment which supports their well-being. Bedrooms are comfortable and personalised. Suitable mobility aids and equipment are in place to help people where needed. We saw people were relaxed and comfortable in their environment. Overall, the home is clean, well-maintained and free from clutter.

There are systems in place to help protect people from abuse and harm. Ongoing training ensures care staff are sufficiently skilled. Policies and procedures support good practice and can assist staff to report a safeguarding concern or 'whistle blow', should this be needed. Care staff tell us they feel confident that if they raise an issue with the manager, it will be responded to promptly. Pre-recruitment checks are in place and regular supervision supports continued development. The service meets regulatory requirements with regard to submitting notifications to Care Inspectorate Wales (CIW).

Care and Support

People benefit from a high standard of care and support. A person-centred approach to care planning ensures people are central to the care and support they receive. Personal plans are developed in conjunction with the person or their representative. They highlight people's outcomes and provide care workers with clear instructions regarding care delivery. Informed risk assessments and management plans identify people's vulnerabilities and give care workers guidance on interventions that will keep people safe.

People are supported to remain as healthy as possible. We saw personal plans contained information that suggests people have good access to additional health and social care services. Medication is stored safely and administered in line with the prescriber's recommendations. All care staff who administer medication are suitably trained and we saw this being carried out with diligence.

The service supports people to maintain a healthy diet. Meals are prepared in the well-equipped kitchen and we found that meals are well presented and served efficiently. People told us that they enjoy the meals and can always have something different if they wish. This was supported by family members who said the meals always appear appetising and wholesome. We saw that people are provided with food and drink that is prepared according to their individual needs. People confirmed they have plenty to eat and drink throughout the day and are offered choice. Care staff assist people with their meals, when required, in a dignified and sensitive way.

On the day of inspection there appeared to be appropriate staffing levels in place to meet the care and support needs of people living at the service. Care staff told us that, on the whole, there are sufficient staff on duty to enable them to fulfil their roles as they would want to. The staff team is very supportive of one another and of the manager and tend to cover shifts when this is necessary. Care staff, together with kitchen and domestic staff, clearly feel committed to ensuring that people living in Woodland Lodge receive a high standard of care at all times.

Environment

The service provides people with care and support in a well-maintained environment. It is set over two floors, with a passenger lift to enable people to access the first floor. Facilities and equipment promote personal outcomes effectively. The general environment is welcoming and clean with an ongoing programme of maintenance in place. We saw that the two downstairs toilets have been completely refurbished, to a high standard, since the last inspection. Redecoration in some communal areas and bedrooms has taken place as part of an ongoing process of refurbishment and redecoration. The home is clean and clear of clutter but the sliding doorway into one of the downstairs bathrooms needs repainting and the door handle replacing. People are able to choose where to spend their time, be it in their own personalised rooms, in communal areas within the home or the well-maintained garden. The garden offers people a safe and pleasant place to spend time in, with an enclosed sitting area for people to enjoy. The garden is level, providing a pleasant and accessible area which can be enjoyed by everyone. We saw that people living in the home had decorated the exterior of the building with hanging baskets of their own design and making.

Health and safety in the home is well managed. Equipment is checked and maintained to ensure it is safe to use. There are good infection control measures in place and policies and audits have been updated to ensure they are in line with current national guidance and legislation.

Leadership and Management

The service provider has effective governance arrangements in place to support the smooth operation of the service. Arrangements for the oversight of the service are in place, such as systems for assessment, care planning, monitoring and review to enable people to achieve their personal outcomes. We viewed documents relating to the service's quality assurance processes, which are completed in a timely way. We saw policies and procedures are in place and updated appropriately.

The statement of purpose accurately describes the current arrangements in place regarding the service's accommodation, admission process and the type of care and support available. People and their family members give very positive feedback about the care provided. There is regular communication between the manager/RI and staff, residents and relatives, with regular staff and residents meetings.

Suitably vetted, trained and supported care staff support people in the appropriate way. The records we examined show that the provider carries out the necessary checks when recruiting staff. New care staff receive a period of induction and say they feel well supported by the manager and colleagues. Care staff receive training relevant to their roles, including safeguarding. Care staff say they feel valued and supported and that teamwork at the home is very good. They also told us they are able to talk to the manager, who is very present and approachable.

The staff team is very supportive of one another and of the manager, who in turn speaks highly of the staff team. Kitchen and domestic staff feel very much part of the team and understand their valuable role in promoting the well-being of people living in the home. Staff morale within the home is positive and care staff feel a responsibility to the people who they care for and to their colleagues.

The need for confidentiality is anticipated and respected. Care records are safely stored and employee personnel records are kept securely. Deprivation of Liberty Safeguards (DoLS) records are available. In addition, people are safe from unauthorised visitors entering the building. Visitors have to ring the bell to be allowed access to the building. All visitors complete the visitor's book when entering and leaving the home. People's privacy and personal information is well protected.
